VANCOUVERCENTER'S PARKVIEW
APPROACHES 50% SOLD MARK

VANCOUVER, Wash. — The Parkview at Vancouvercenter has announced that they are nearing closings on more than 50% of the condominiums in the development.

Parkview is a hot-selling 112 unit condominium project in the heart of Vancouver. The project opened in mid-July and plans vary from studios to spacious two bedrooms and are priced from $118,900.

"We are delighted to be close 50% mark in such a short time period," said Nawzad Othman, owner's representative for the project. He also added, "Buyers have continued to comment positively on the location and affordable prices."

Parkview is part of the vibrant "Vancouvercenter," an exciting two-square-block development that offers residential units along with Class A office and retail space. The development boasts secure underground parking, on-site fitness facilities, a community room and high-speed internet capabilities. The project offers views of the Cascade Mountains along with the Columbia River, and is across the street from Esther Short Park. The Parkview condo buyers also receive property tax abatement until 2013.

Vancouvercenter is within walking distance to nature trails along the Columbia River, Esther Short Park, shopping, restaurants, banks, a movie theater and the Vancouver Farmer's Market. Part of the fast growing Northwest, Vancouver is just two hours from the Cascade Mountains, 90 minutes from the Pacific Ocean, 15 minutes from downtown Portland, and 15 minutes from the Portland airport.
